NEED NEW FOUR ROOM SCHOOLHOUSE, BELIEF OF SURVEY COMMITTEE

There were eight members and three visitors present at the sixth meeting of the Bethel School Survey Committee Monday night.

The secretary reported on the large increase of beginners over expected enrollment in that grade. This increase indicated that eleven in this grade had moved into town since the pre-school census of a year ago.

There was again much discussion of the apparent need of opening the two vacant rooms at East and West Bethel next year. The committee took no vote of recommendation about this matter, but the majority seemed to consider it would be necessary even though the numbers per room in some instances might be small in comparison to the number in other classrooms in Bethel.

After a careful view of previous discussions of the need for more classrooms, the committee came to this conclusion: "As a result of the investigations to date we have concluded that the existing facilities are inadequate and that the construction of four new classrooms is necessary."

The Committee is asking that all interested citizens attend their next meeting in October. The time and place will appear in this paper at a later date.

STATE PAYS HALF BILLION OLD AGE BENEFITS, AUGUST

Old Age Assistance recipients in Maine received more than half a million dollars in August, according to the monthly summary of the Department of Health and Welfare issued today. Total payments authorized were $597,347 for 14,048 cases.

This represents an increase of $141,000 over the corresponding month a year ago and is due largely to the increased maximum voted by the 94th legislature. The average payment is now $42.10 per month, an increase of $8.35 over August, 1948.

Of particular significance is the fact that the number of applications for this type of assistance increased 90% over August, 1948. This is the result of two factors, the impact of unemployment upon the age group of 65 and over and the steady increase in the State's aged population.

In the Aid to Dependent Children category, although the number of families receiving payment and the total payments increased, the average payment per family decreased. The latter was the result of lowered maximum allowances which were placed into effect in July in order to conserve funds to meet the steadily increasing case-load.

The cost of care of the 2433 children in State custody increased 10% over last year as the result of generally higher living costs.

SLEUTH TRACKS PRISONER AT SKOWHEGAN

Sleuth, the Bethel bloodhound owned by Deputy Sheriff Albert Grover and Constable Roderick McMillin, was called to Skowhegan the first of the week to assist in the search for Leonard Stevens, who escaped from officers at the county jail. The bloodhound followed his trail to the river where the scent was lost. The man was found Wednesday in a house on the Skowhegan-Norridgewock road.

END DAYLIGHT SAVING SUNDAY MORNING

Daylight Saving Time for this year will end next Sunday, Sept. 25. To make it simple set all watches and clocks back one hour Saturday night.

It is understood that trains will remain on the schedule, Standard Time, as during the summer, so to those who have been on fast time the train will be an hour earlier. PLAYERS TO SELECT CAST FOR NEXT PRESENTATION, WEDNESDAY

The initial meeting of the Bethel Players for the new season was held at the Community Room on Monday evening with an attendance of seventeen. Fifteen were present when President Richard Bryant called the meeting to order, or entered shortly thereafter, while two others arrived at the entertainment program nearer its close. Sweet cider and doughnuts were served.

Mrs. Isaac W. Dyer read the one-act play "Trifles," based on efforts to solve a murder mystery in a decidedly rural community and conducted a series of readings in which all present participated.

The three act comedy "January Thaw" will be the season's first offering under direction of Mrs. Dyer, assisted by Mrs. Norman Grieg. The cast of thirteen will be selected at a special meeting at the Community Room next Wednesday evening.

Meetings will be held, as heretofore, on the third Monday of each month, proceedings to start at eight o'clock however, rather than at 7:30 as in the past. Special and appropriate entertainment and refreshments will be provided at each session.

The entertainment program for the October get-together will be in charge of Mrs. Roland Glines with Mrs. Philip Chabourne as caterer, and Dale Thurston was selected to see that the thermometer registers the proper temperature. Mrs. Glines requests that each member bring a short poem.

A spirit of optimism is evident among the more active members as well as a desire to share with others the satisfaction and benefits that accrue to those who engage in community service. And as an extremely ambitious program is planned for the coming fall and winter period an invitation is extended to any and all willing and able to assist in the myriad details incidental to the success of such a program, to attend the special and subsequent meetings.

BULL MOOSE RACES AUTO

While motoring to Rumford from Bethel Wednesday morning Sam T. Smith of the Maine Employment Security Service had a rather exciting—if not dangerous—race with a bull moose.

Between Bethel and Locke Mills the moose suddenly charged out of the swamp land on the right side of the road directly in front of the car. Hoping to avoid a collision Mr. Smith stepped on the gas and veered to the left as far as possible. The moose swerved and raced abreast of the front wheels but thanks to a quick pick-up and hard shoulders along the right of way the car was able to get around and by the charging animal without mishap.

After the car was safely by the moose slowed down and stopped in the middle of the road watching the car and shaking his head apparently in doubt as to whether to continue its attack. After about five minutes of debate he walked off into the swamplands and Mr. Smith continued on to Rumford congratulating himself on escaping what might have been a serious encounter.

ANNOUNCE DATE—PHILLIPS ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Dyer of Bethel are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Pearl, to Ernest W. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Phillips, South Rumford.

Mr. Phillips is a graduate of Stephens High School in the class of 1945. He served 18 months with the Merchant Marine and is now employed by the Oxford Paper Co.

The wedding will take place Oct. 22, at Mexico.

A bull, cow and calf moose were visitors in the village Tuesday morning and were seen by several people. Later a much greater number were impressed by the large tracks in various gardens.

Richard Ireland left Saturday to enter Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt. Mrs. Elwood Ireland accompanied him and spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Sheahan, at Middlebury.

Lee Carver went to New Haven, Conn., last Tuesday to enter Yale University. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Ames who spent Tuesday night with Rev. and Mrs. John Foster at Easthampton, Mass.

A representative of School Thrift, Inc., whose system is now in use by the Bethel Savings Bank in its school savings accounts, will speak at the meeting of the Parent Teacher Association at the Grammar School next Tuesday evening. Refreshments will be served.

Sunset Rebekah Lodge elected the following officers for the next year at their meeting Monday evening: Noble Grand, Bertha M. Mills; Vice Grand, Adelaide Lister; Financial Secretary, Norma Jodrey; Recording Secretary, Maxine Brown; Treasurer, Ida Packard; Trustee, Carl L. Brown.

About 50 persons were present at a pot luck supper held in the Vestry of the Congregational Church on Tuesday evening preceding the annual business meeting. The tables were attractively decorated with bouquets of zinnias. Mrs. Charles Gorman was the chairman of the supper committee. She was very ably assisted by Mrs. Norman Grieg, Mrs. Robert Lord and Mrs. Ernest Scothorne.

At 7:30 the business meeting was called to order by the Clerk of the Church, John Howe, who read the warrant. This was followed by the election of Gerry Brooks as Moderator. The report of the Nominating Committee was read and accepted. Their slate of officers was unanimously elected, as follows: John Howe, Clerk; Henry Hastings, Treasurer; Ordell Anderson, Collector; Wilbur Myers, Auditor; Deaconess, Frank Nary and Richard Waldron; Deaconesses, Mrs. Richard Waldron and Mrs. Ordell Anderson; Trustee, Harold Bennett; Member-at-large to the Church Council, Mrs. Gayle Foster; Board of Benevolence, Mrs. K. W. Hawthorne, Mrs. Frank Nary; Religious Education Committee, Mrs. Francis Noyes; Nominating Committee, Mrs. Charles Gorman, Mrs. Violet Bennett and Louis Van; Historian, Mrs. R. R. Tibbets.

The reports of the Church Officers were heard and approved. Kimball Ames reported for the Trustees and he was given a rising vote of approval for his work in the reorganization of the Church. Henry Hastings read the Treasurer's report; Ordell Anderson spoke on his work as Collector and Mr. Hawthorne spoke for the Diaconate.

Before the meeting adjourned there was a lively discussion over the possibility of uniting with the Bethel Methodist Church. A motion was passed to leave the matter in the hands of the Church Council for their investigation. At the close of the meeting many of those present remained to see the motion picture "And Now I See," which in spite of mechanical difficulties was enjoyed by everyone.

The Soul of Business

Somewhere once invented the term "soulless corporation" and somehow it stuck. How it was presumed that any kind of organization should be possessed of a soul is beyond me. But this was no doubt back in the dreary years of the Thirties or earlier, when it was more in the fashion to make business the "gout" and when folks were so confused that no amount of explaining could make them understand the economic facts of life. It was easy for socialist non-payers to shout such slogans. When the boss was a nobody, with nothing more than "line" as his name folks could well believe they worked for the devil himself. (Praises be, most of the enlightened businessmen now know the importance of educating employees about their companies.) Today, more people than ever know that corporations are mighty important in our everyday economic life.

Business Means Jobs

A corporation is simply a group of people doing together what it would be impossible for them to do singly. These people have been brought together in hopes of making a profit on money they invest together. The managers they select build factories, buy the tools, and hire the men. All together, if they are wise and efficient, they achieve production, lots of jobs, and higher living standards.

This corporation method, then, is one way of achieving these very desirable goals. The corporation is one way to set up a business. In America, you and your neighbor are quite free to go into business that way. Or, you can go into business for yourself, if you have enough capital in hand or can raise it. Or you can form a partnership. The important thing about it is that if we are to have plenty of jobs, and a prosperous America, then BUSINESS is necessary.

Same Soapbox

The way some people attack "big business" today suggests to me that the soapbox technique is the same, only it has been moved to high places. To attack "bigness" is to attack little, because the principle of the one is the principle of the other. But it is not bigness that is being attacked, it is business itself. It is the profit motive itself, which is the prime reason that any business exists whether big or little.

Actually, only about one-third of the money in American business represents corporate money. Corporations, as a way of doing business, deserve neither the total credit nor the total blame for conditions that may exist in our economy. There is no reason why we should point the finger of scorn at corporations, big or little. It is said that individuals have invented twelve times as much in unincorporated businesses in the past three years, as in corporations.

Right to Profit

No, it is business itself that is under constant attack—the method by which the business is conducted is not important except as a point of attack. This explains why various demagogues and crisis-makers about, wildly but most vaguely, about "exorbitant profits" of corporations. Big companies should make adequate profits; small companies must have profits also. Individuals who go into business ventures need profit to keep going. The right to make a profit is a thing that no American ought to question.

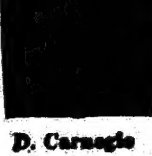

Of course, not every business venture succeeds. Without customers a firm will fail. But those that succeed, and make a profit, are the life-blood of our economy. That meager five or six cents profit out of each sales dollar is the miracle portion that inspires enterprise and produces abundance in America. If business has a soul, it is surely this precious freedom of enterprise, spurred on by hope of profit, that has made America a land of plenty.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

TODAY'S PIECE is for parents who are concerned with what their children may have inherited. If you are one of them, the first thing for you to do is to stop worrying. Your child has many people to inherit from, so the chances are slim of his inheriting a weakness so great from any one of them that cannot be offset by what he inherits from all the others combined.

Donald A. Laird has an interesting article in Your Life Magazine which I have condensed for this space, as follows:

D. Carnegie

Many people have insanity somewhere in the family, but fortunately only a fraction of mental disorders are definitely inherited. Even an insane father or mother should not deter one from marriage. Famous people have had one insane parent: author Hans Christian Andersen, philosopher Sir Francis Bacon, author Nathaniel Hawthorne, astronomer Johannes Kepler, artist J. M.W. Turner, to mention only a few.

An occasional feeble-minded child is born in families that have the best of heredity—Charles Darwin and William Shakespeare each had a feeble-minded child. Feeble-mindedness crops out in unexpected places, partly because it is a recessive hereditary factor and may lie dormant through several generations. It also crops out sometimes because of brain injuries at birth, or because of the mother's illness before the child's birth.

Blood has nothing to do with heredity. I'd as soon have a transfusion from a lunatic as from a university president or a congressman.

Blood tests tell nothing about heredity; they merely tell about venereal disease.

There is very little blending of characteristics of mother and father. Hereditary qualities usually appear full strength, not diluted.

Years may change the man, but the heredity remains unchanged. Ninety year old men have become fathers of healthy babies, and the children received the same heredity as if their father had been a whippersnapper of a youth.

Heredity plays a role in some diseases. If both a father and a mother have diabetes, medical examinations should be held annually on the child. But tuberculosis and cancer have little to do with heredity.

WHEN THE FORESTS BURN

One match, one smoldering cigarette butt, one spark from a camp fire, can be the cause of the destruction of thousands of acres of timber that it took Nature centuries to create. And when the forests burn, the cruellest of deaths comes to the wildlife that live in their shelter. This year, the country has witnessed a number of very serious forest fires. The hazard does not end with the summer months. There has been unusually dry weather in various sections of the country. Trees and woodlands will be ripe for destruction by fire for some time to come.

There seems to be a rather widespread idea that most forest fires are started by natural causes beyond the ability of man to prevent or control. That is not true. As the New York Times has said, "Some fires, of course are set by lightning, but authorities are agreed that nine out of ten are due entirely to human carelessness with matches, cigarettes or camp fires. Annually they cause direct losses running into many millions of dollars and equally serious indirect losses in the destruction of our dwindling forest reserves. . . ."

The human factor, in fact, is responsible for almost all fires, whether they take place in a forest, in a home, or in a factory. Carelessness, ignorance, indifference to rudimentary precautions—these are fire's friends. When we replace them with care and watchfulness, fire will be beaten.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

WITH MEMBERS of a defiant house of representatives scattered to their respective homes for a self-imposed vacation until Sept. 21, an embattled and legislative-sharped senate fretted, turned and pouted in turn in one of the most flagrant log jams in legislative history.

In the meantime, the nation has government by resolution. The 1949 fiscal year ended July 1, but many departments are operating by reference, by resolution extending funds, by making government employees wait as appropriations bills go unpassed and senators preach economy and appropriate more millions. Bills are thrown into conference which cannot be held until the house membership struggles back to Washington after its vacation is over. It looks like congress may eat its Thanksgiving dinner in Washington.

Out of debate on the interior appropriations bill, the senate finally did salvage the government's policy on public power, overthrow the recommendations of its own appropriations committee and firmly implant back in the bill appropriations for construction of government transmission lines to bring public power to preferred customers from the gigantic dams constructed with taxpayer money. This had all but been a victory for the private power lobby. The big utilities were defeated only after senators from five western states split over the issue. There was unanimity only among senators from Texas and California, the four from these states supporting public power.

Debate went on for several days, particularly bitter over this issue: the house had appropriated $2,400,000 for construction of transmission lines. The Southwestern Power Authority, a government agency, had used its appropriation and its right to construct government transmission lines as a stick over the Texas Power & Light Company to force that private utility to transmit electric power to government customers on a contract favorable to both the utility and the government. Other western utilities bitterly refused to be along on any such contract. At the insistence of the power lobby, the senate committee cut out the appropriation, leaving the government nothing to bargain with into the bill were written directions for the Southwestern Power Authority to sign contracts with private power utilities to take public power at the bus bar at government dams. This would have turned over to the private power companies all the electricity they desired to take from government hydro-electric plants, in which taxpayers had invested a total of about $60,000,000 plus $60,000,000 in distributing systems, at the private utility's own terms.

Final action returns this club to the Southwestern Power Authority, by a vote of 67 to 25, with 14 senators not voting. Eight Republican Senators voted with 20 Democrats for public power, while six Democrats voted with 20 Republicans for the private power companies.

In the meantime, this economy preaching and appropriations minded congress was thrown into consternation when Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson announced quietly that he was firing 133,000 civilian employees of the military establishment to save $500,000,000 annually by 1950. States most heavily affected were New York, with 6,479 employed; California with 16,830 and Pennsylvania, with 9,468. Reaction in congress was prompt, bipartisan and vehement with those whose home areas were affected most yelling loudest and loudest. Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, however, whose state also is affected with the huge naval establishment at Norfolk, said: "It's the first honest-to-goodness effort made toward reduction in government personnel in ten years." Typical of the opposition was comment of Senator Knowland of California: "Mothballing the facilities will cost more than savings achieved in shutting them down."

Farm agencies are concerned over freight rate increases, the latest a 3.7% increase just gone into effect and which puts freight rates 37% above those in effect three years ago, as on June 30, 1946.

With a surplus now in fats and oils, farm leaders are also concerned with the increasing uses of synthetic shortening in bread making.

Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business.

They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

This would mean higher food prices for you. It would mean less food on every dinner table and fewer dollars in every pay envelope.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public.

A&P has never done any of these things.

Nobody has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it.

Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices — just the opposite. This whole attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 1 1/2% on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company. If their patronage will make that company grow; and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

There is much more involved in this case than the future of A&P. The entire American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face destruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the most good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grocer 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢.

The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business and good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle — the selling of more for less — that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people eat better and live better.

We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally prevailing in the retail food industry; and that these men and women have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen — the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services — have a big stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

We admit that the interests of the owners of A&P are of little importance.

Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-trust lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business.

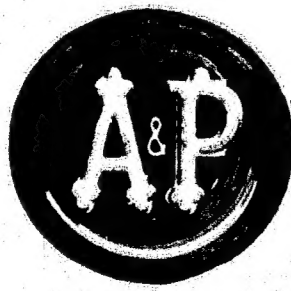

But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years ago, an effort was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The public rallied to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

Now we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely on us for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fast, low-cost distribution of their products; and to our loyal employees.

We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend, by every legitimate means, this company and the low-price policy on which it was built.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC &

PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

Nobody's Business

The new Corporation dump which was first used last Saturday seems to be generally accepted as a satisfactory solution of the rubbish problem. There was, and probably still is, some criticism of the location by those who fear contamination of Songo Pond by way of a brook in the vicinity. However, those who have been responsible for the project, and others who have visited the location, feel that there is no cause for the least alarm. It is apparently agreed by all that the pond is of first importance and if there is any danger of polluting Songo waters the site should not be used.

The dump question has brought to the surface some most interesting traits of human behavior during a few weeks when the subject was being considered. While it seemed that a place for rubbish disposal was desirable and necessary, the location must always be somewhere else. Several areas were eliminated because of a new State law forbidding the use of the banks of streams and other sites were not available or were not likely to be usable the year round. The present position seems to be as good as can be found, and it not abused should not be offensive to anyone.

According to late reports as we go to press there is no truth in the rumor of one or more polio cases in Bethel.

From time to time matters are suggested for this column which we believe should be printed. But we wait, week after week sometimes, in the hope that the causes of complaints will be removed. We realize that it is all too easy to criticize, and hesitate in doing so when a remedy cannot be suggested.

BEAR RIVER GRANGE No. 285

Bear River Grange No. 285 met in regular session Saturday night, Sept. 17. All officers were present but four. Officers acting pro tem were Lon Wight, secretary; George Stearns, Assistant Steward; C. F. Saunders, Overseer.

After the business meeting, Miss Carrie Wight, chairman of the Home-Community Welfare Committee, presented a very interesting program, consisting of several illustrated songs of long ago, such as Old Black Joe, School Days, Seeing Nellie Home, and others. A panel of four ladies, Mrs. Addis Saunders, Mrs. Annie Merrill, Mrs. Ruth Stearns, and Mrs. Errol Murphy, discussed flowers about and in the homes. Next a panel of four men discussed needs of the community. They were E. L. Holt, Joe Merrill, George Stearns and Edward Bennett. A side show for "men only" and one for "ladies only" was well patronized. Then a friend of Miss Wight's, Mrs. Adams by name, showed slides and gave a very interesting talk on flowers, berries, and nature in general, after which the meeting closed in form.

There were 34 members present and four visitors from Andover. An invitation to attend Andover some numbers on the program was accepted. This meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 29. Refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served. So let's put on our hats and all attend Andover's "Booster Night" Sept. 29. Then keep your hats on and come to our own "Bear River" meeting Oct. 1. We are having some grand gay meetings and you won't realize the fun you are missing until you come. The more the merrier, so come on Oct. 1st.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

During the next twenty-four hours, the chances are that fire will take 30 lives — and destroy $2,000,000 worth of property. And that will happen during every ensuing day and night, if fire waste continues at the present rate.

That is why public officials and civic groups in some 10,000 communities are now organizing in preparation for the 1949 Fire Prevention Week observance, which will take place from October 9 to 15.

Fire Prevention Week has been an annual event since 1920, when President Wilson issued the first Presidential proclamation authorizing it. It has only one purpose—to show us the simple precautions that will prevent most fires. To achieve that goal, thousands of experts contribute freely of their knowledge, time and energy. Nothing is left undone that might serve the cause. Practically every American unless he is a hermit in the hills, has the chance to gain knowledge that may save his life, his home, his job.

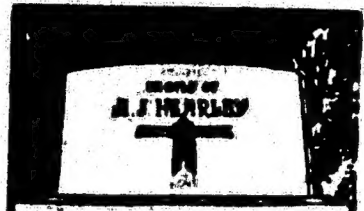

However, this fine work is of small value without public cooperation. The experts are ready to teach us, but they cannot make us learn unless we wish to do so. They are offering an opportunity—and it is up to us to take it.

The point is plain and simple. Listen, read, and learn during the week—and put into constant practice what you learn. If we do that, fire's horrible and unnecessary
